The Unfair Advantage You Can See — and Use

Brian teaches high-performing professionals how to decode people — helping them build faster trust, close more deals, communicate more clearly, and create stronger team dynamics.

These Subtle Skills give individuals a completely new way of understanding clients, coworkers, and even themselves. Past participants have used these tools to:

- Increase sales performance
- Strengthen team collaboration
- Improve customer satisfaction
- Navigate difficult conversations with confidence

Brian's approach blends face decoding, statement analysis, body language interpretation, and negotiation psychology — taught in a way that's instantly practical and deeply memorable.

Known for his energetic style, real-world stories, and live audience demos, Brian doesn't just teach communication — he transforms the way people see and engage with others. His methods are simple to understand, powerful to apply, and proven to work in the boardroom, on the sales floor, and in life.

Bring Brian to your next event — and give your team the tools to connect faster, sell smarter, and lead with confidence.
